

Product Verification Form

Rev C

IMPORTANT NOTES

In order for Texas Instruments (TI) to provide verification and analysis services, all information as specified in this "Product Verification Form" is required. Incomplete, unclear and/or inaccurate information may result in the delay of analysis as well as the limited depth of the analysis. Customers who do not purchase directly from TI, must first involve their distributor to resolve issues.

TI will not provide verification and analysis services for parts purchased through unauthorized sources (brokers, independent distributors, or 3rd party test houses) due to the uncertainties concerning product custody and the supply chain through which such parts may have been obtained. Furthermore, TI will not provide warranty coverage for any device purchased through unauthorized sources. TI is strengthening our customer return policies to help ensure our authorized supply chain is free of counterfeit and untrustworthy material. TI is committed to keeping TI products out of unauthorized channels, as well as identifying and stopping counterfeiting of TI products. We appreciate your support in helping us maintain a secure supply chain by providing all of the requested information.

Provide an electronic copy of this "Product Verification Form" to the Customer Support Center and your Texas Instruments contact.
